

*1102 a. Eucereon surcata. (Plate XIX. fig. 2.)

Theages surcata, Dogn. Ann. Soc. Ent. Belg. xli. p. 25 (1897).

♀. Head and thorax brown; basal joint of antennæ and patches on back of head orange; pectus and coxæ ochreous white; abdomen black-brown, the last two segments orange, the ventral surface yellowish with the last two segments edged with brown. Fore wing whitish tinged with pale olive-brown, a brown spot below base of cell; subbasal, antemedial, two postmedial, and two subterminal irregularly waved lines, the 2nd postmedial with spot on it below vein 3, the 1st subterminal at vein 6 and below 2 and the 2nd subterminal below costa and where it ends on termen at vein 3; a spot in middle of cell and a bar before discocellulars. Hind wing fuscous.

Hab. ECUADOR, Loja, type † ♀ in Coll. Dognin. Exp. 44 millim.